INTRODUCTION.

1. The sixth edition of the Indian Word Code for Foreign State telegrams should be brought into use on the date officially notified, from which date the fifth edition will become obsolete; copies of that edition should be kept by the holders for one month longer and then destroyed.

2. Names of Stores.—The names of items of stores have for the most part been omitted from the present edition of the Indian Word Code and included in the 1940 issue of the India Office Stores Code.

3. Issue of the Supplement.—Any additions to be made to the Code will appear in the form of separate Supplements, which will be issued periodically. Each new issue of the Supplement will include the matter contained in former issues, so that not more than one Supplement will be in use at the same time.

4. Issue of Lists of Corrigenda.—Any corrections that it may be necessary to make in the Code, either on account of printer's errors, or by reason of phrases becoming obsolete, will be notified in Lists of Corrigenda.

5. Telegraphic Addresses.—The telegraphic addresses registered in London are shown on pages xi to xiii, and those registered in India on pages xiii to xvi and xxvii to xxxiv. Attention is specially invited to the Important Note in paragraph 11 below.

6. In compiling this edition of the Indian Word Code, advantage has been taken of the regulations laid down in the International Telegraph Convention by which 5-letter code words, pronounceable according to the usage of several languages, joined together to form 10-letter groups, are charged for as one word. This should lead to greater economy in telegraphing, but has rendered necessary great changes in the arrangement of the book.

7. The code groups differ from one another by at least two letters, in order to diminish the risk of incorrect interpretations arising out of telegraphic errors. The code groups are built up on a system of values described in the instructions, which has the further advantage of providing an easy means of correcting such errors. It is only possible, however, to obtain about 60,000 pronounceable 5-letter groups with a 2-letter difference, which is insufficient for a code book that covers such a variety of subjects. Ten-letter groups have therefore been allotted to certain phrases that cannot be coded by a pair of 5-letter groups and to uncommon words, especially those consisting of more than 10 letters, which, if sent en clair, would be charged for as two words.

8. Economy is the sole object of this code, and it is hoped that users will forward suggestions for improvement, for incorporation in the code. All suggestions in regard to additions to, or omissions from, the Code should be sent by those who receive their copies of the Code through the India Office, to the Editor of Codes, India Office, London, and by those who receive their copies from the Government of India to that Government. The suggestions will, as far as practicable, be embodied in the Code by means of a Supplement or by Lists of Corrigenda.

9. Special attention is drawn to the specimen messages on pages ix and x. They provide examples of the way in which messages should be coded and written down for transmission, and illustrate the uses of the various appendices.

10. To obtain the maximum of economy when using this book, every possible word should be rendered into code. Specimen message 4 shows how the cost of a message is reduced by half, although, with the exception of significations including numbers, no 5-letter code group represents more than a single word.

It is obvious that economy is not likely to result from the codifying of proper names which are not already in the dictionary. These as a rule should be sent en clair. For the same reason, serial numbers of telegrams should not be coded.

11. A list of holders of the code, together with their telegraphic addresses, is printed on pages xvii to xxvii.

The Code words given against the titles and designations in the vocabulary of the Code, other than those included in the lists of registered addresses referred to above, are intended to be used in the body of telegrams only, and their use in addresses is inadmissible.

12. If a signature is necessary at the end of a message to indicate the sender, the proper registered address should be used and not Code words from the dictionary. Thus, for Controller of Military Accounts, Presidency and Assam District, Calcutta, the registered telegraph address "ZAFFAI," should be used, and not EDOYU.

EXPLANATORY INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE USE OF THE CODE.

ARRANGEMENT OF "WORD-ENDINGS": "OPTIONALS."

1 Root words are printed in heavy type, and are usually followed by one or more word-endings in Roman type separated from the root word and from one another by hyphens. They may be used or disregarded according to the context. Words printed in italics are "Optionals," i.e., they may or may not be used according to the context. They are separated from the root words or word-endings by dashes unless they occur in the course of a phrase. Dashes are also used to separate alternative optionals from one another. When "The" is optional to another optional it is separated from it by a comma.

ORDER OF WORDS AND PHRASES.

2 The arrangement of a code always presents difficulties. This book has been arranged as far as possible on strictly alphabetical lines. It is believed that this arrangement is the best. Cross references have been made for long phrases under each of the important words composing them.

3 Capital Letters separated by full stops are treated as words, thus I.S.O. will be found as if written Iao.

4 When optionals occur in the course of a phrase, they are to be disregarded for the purposes of alphabetical order. Allowance should therefore be made for this, particularly as regards the words "A" or "The", which appear very frequently. For example, —

"If the latter" comes immediately after "If known" and not after "If the."

GROUPS.

5 Each word or phrase is provided with either a 5-letter or 10-letter code group. The 10-letter groups are made up of the two 5-letter groups, the first of which, i.e., ZSOKA, does not vary, and the second appears somewhere else in the book as a single 5-letter group. The reason for this is that a single terminational list and the same value serve for both series of groups.

6. All these 5 letter code groups are made up on a value system in which the groups are prepared on a numerical basis, each letter having a numerical value corresponding to its place in the alphabet, namely :—

A = 1	H = 8	O = 15	V = 22
B = 2	I = 9	P = 16	W = 23
C = 3	J = 10	Q = 17	X = 24
D = 4	K = 11	R = 18	Y = 25
E = 5	L = 12	S = 19	Z = 26
F = 6	M = 13	T = 20
G = 7	N = 14	U = 21

7. The "value" of a group is arrived at by adding together the numerical values of all the letters in the group, and then deducting 26 or its multiples. The "value" of the groups used in this code is 20, that is to say, if the numerical values given above are substituted for the letters in any group in the code, the sum of these values will amount to 20, 46 ($26 + 20$), 72 ($26 \times 2 + 20$), 98 ($26 \times 3 + 20$), or 124 ($26 \times 4 + 20$). For example, the sum of the numerical values of the letters forming either of the code words ABAEK or ZEWYS is 20, thus :—

A = 1	Z = 26
B = 2	E = 5
A = 1	W = 23
E = 5	Y = 25
K = 11	S = 19
Total 20	Total 98
	Deduct 78 (26×3)
	Total 20

CORRECTION OF TELEGRAPHIC ERRORS.

8. If a corrupt group cannot be rectified by filling in the word or words suggested by the context, the coder should try for an error in a single letter.

9. If one letter only is wrong, it can be easily corrected by applying the value system, in the manner explained by the following example :—

10. A group BEFYL is received in a message and cannot be found in the code. BEFYL has the value 24, which is 4 too much. To obtain the correct group, therefore, a letter 4 less in value must be substituted in turn for each corresponding letter in BEFYL. Where the letter to be changed has a value equal to or less than the amount to be deducted, add 26 to it before the deduction is made.

B = 2	X = 24	H = 8	B = 2	B = 2	B = 2
E = 5	E = 5	A = 1	E = 5	E = 5	E = 5
F = 6	F = 6	F = 6	B = 2	F = 6	F = 6
Y = 25	Y = 25	Y = 25	Y = 25	U = 21	Y = 25
L = 12	L = 12	L = 12	L = 12	L = 12	H = 8
50	72	46	46	46	46
Deduct 26	Deduct 52	Deduct 26	Deduct 26	Deduct 26	Deduct 26
24	20	20	20	20	20

11. If the error is in one letter only, one of these groups must be the correct one. Care should be taken that the meaning of each variation is tried, e.g., a group XYUGV is received, two of the 1-letter variations are XYUGU and XYUCY. These mean 53 and 53 rupees respectively, and either might fit in the context.

12. Errors of more than one letter in a 5 letter group are rare and the correct version can only be found by a process of elimination. A Termination Last (Appendix IX) is included to assist in this process. The various combinations of 2 letter errors to be tried are, say, for a group such as DADEF —

Third and Fourth letters	DA F	D EF	Second and Third letters

The table below will also be found to be of assistance in the detection of errors. It shows what letters are liable when rendered in Morse telegraphic symbols, to be mistaken for other letters.

FORM OF TRANSMISSION.

13. The groups forming the message for transmission should be made up into 10-letter groups. This saves expense. See specimen messages and Introduction (part 8)

NUMBERS.

14. Cardinal Numbers including phrases which commence with a cardinal number, e.g., "35 feet" are printed in Appendix I (pages 644 to 668), and are not included in the dictionary.

15. Such numbers as are not assigned groups in this Appendix must be coded by two or more groups. For this purpose special "plus numbers" (e.g., 0000) are provided. The plus sign indicates that the number is not complete by itself and that the number following is to be added to it. The final number obviously must not be a "plus number."

Example —

$$236,019 = \begin{cases} \text{(i) } 200,000 & \text{Y K I V E} \\ \text{(ii) } 36,000 & \text{Y I P M I} \\ \text{(iii) } 19 & \text{X U Z Y S} \end{cases}$$

16. Numbers commencing with a Decimal Point (e.g., "303") will be found on the first page of this Appendix. Other numbers containing a decimal point appear under the number which precedes the decimal point (e.g., "9.2" inches appears under "9"). In all other cases the groups signifying "Decimal Point" must be used.

17. The Ordinal Numbers from "First" to "Hundredth" inclusive will be found in their alphabetical order in the dictionary. Those higher than this must be coded in two or more groups employing "plus" numbers as explained above.

Example —

$$\begin{array}{l} \text{One hundred} \\ \text{and} \\ \text{Ninety fifth} \end{array} \quad \begin{cases} \text{(i) } 100 + \\ \text{(ii) } \text{Ninety fifth} \end{cases}$$

18. Fractions will be found at the commencement of the Numbers Section; a few of them, such as "half," "quarter," are also included as words in the dictionary. Fractions which are not assigned groups should be coded in the following form :—

3	{	Three	=	XOMAS
/		Fraction Bar	=	WUOOX
26		Twenty Six	=	XyAAU

19. Phrases for expressing money are included, for example : £271,616. 17s. 4½d. is coded by the six groups :—

200,000 +	=	YKIVE
71,000 +	=	YJNER
600 +	=	YEDGE
£16	=	XUWEY
17s.	=	XUYBU
4½d.	=	XOTNY

i.e., three 10-letter groups.

TIMES.

20. When times are expressed by the 24-hour clock method the following procedure should be adopted. Any time up to, and including, 9.59 a.m. should be coded by one group taken from the Numbers Section

Example :—

8.10 a.m. = 0610 = XEFVO

All times after 9.59 a.m. must be coded by two groups taken from the Numbers Section

Examples :—

10.5 a.m.	{	(1) 10	=	XUHYT
		(2) 05	=	XAYWY
3.30 p.m.	{	(1) 15	=	XUSUM
		(2) 30	=	XYDUX

DATES.

21. A group for every day of the year is provided in Appendix II, on pages 669-670

SUFFIXES.

22. Many words exceeding 10 letters in length have been omitted because they are not used frequently enough to justify the allocation of a 5-letter group, and they can be built up of two 5-letter groups. For this purpose the more common suffixes have been included, some of them with optionals.

Examples :—

"Academical" can be coded by the two groups for	{	Academical	=	ACAPY
			=	ITBOZ
"Compressible" can be coded by the two groups for	{	Compressible	=	DWUUC
			=	ITAWS

Attention is drawn to the provision in the dictionary of affixes and endings, such as "re," "de," and "ness," "ent," "er," "ery," "ist," "ilities," "ily," "ingly," etc

REPETITIONS.

23. Users of this code are reminded that repetitions of corrupt groups can be obtained free of charge if and when it is substantiated that the error has been made in transmission. Where it is suspected that an error has been made in coding or drafting and it is desired to verify the accuracy of a group or groups of a telegram, use should be made of the following phrases :—

Please repeat all before
 Please repeat all after
 Please repeat from to inclusive.
